

GDR Solutions LLC

3420 Main St. Suite A, Grasonville, MD 21638 USA

<https://www.GoGDR.com>

Phone: 410-403-5760; E-Mail: TOC@GoGDR.com

CAGE: 13MW3; UEI: RKQRU8BAAJR9

Corporate Overview

Securing Missions. Strengthening Readiness. Delivering Results.

GDR Solutions LLC (GDR) is a Service-Disabled Veteran-Owned Small Business (SDVOSB) providing specialized professional services to the U.S. Government, Intelligence Community, Department of War, Combatant Commands, and defense industry partners. Our team combines decades of operational, intelligence, military, cybersecurity, and program management experience to deliver practical, mission-focused solutions that strengthen national security and operational readiness.

Founded by military veterans and senior government professionals, GDR was established to help government organizations identify emerging threats, reduce operational risk, and improve mission resilience through trusted expertise and responsive support.

Our Mission

To strengthen national security by delivering trusted expertise, innovative solutions, and mission-focused support that enables government organizations to identify, mitigate, and overcome today's most complex operational, intelligence, and supply chain challenges.

Our Vision

To become the trusted partner of choice for government agencies and prime contractors seeking agile, experienced professionals dedicated to protecting critical missions and advancing national security objectives.

Core Capabilities

Supply Chain Risk Management (SCRM) & Vendor Threat Mitigation (VTM)

GDR assists organizations in identifying, assessing, and mitigating risks throughout the global supply chain that could impact mission success. Our professionals support government initiatives through supply chain risk assessments, vendor evaluations, critical technology protection, foreign ownership, control, or influence (FOCI) analysis, policy development, and operational risk assessments. By combining intelligence-driven analysis with structured risk methodologies, we help organizations make informed acquisition decisions while strengthening mission resilience and reducing exposure to supply chain threats.

GDR Solutions LLC

Human Intelligence (HUMINT) & Counterintelligence (CI)

Our team includes professionals with decades of operational experience supporting intelligence collection, counterintelligence operations, investigations, and mission assurance activities. We provide strategic and operational expertise that enables government organizations to identify, assess, deter, and mitigate threats posed by foreign intelligence services, insider activity, and adversarial networks while protecting personnel, operations, and national security interests.

Security & Insider Threat (InT)

GDR delivers comprehensive security and insider threat support designed to safeguard personnel, facilities, information, and critical programs. Our professionals possess expertise in personnel, physical, industrial, and information security, as well as insider threat program development, behavioral analysis, risk assessment, and mitigation strategies. We help organizations strengthen security postures, ensure regulatory compliance, and proactively identify and address internal and external threats before they impact mission success.

Information Technology (IT) & Cybersecurity

GDR delivers secure, mission-focused technology solutions that support the design, deployment, operation, and sustainment of government information systems. Our capabilities include systems engineering, network architecture, cybersecurity operations, cloud and infrastructure support, incident response, system administration, technology modernization, and secure software prototyping. We help organizations maintain resilient, secure, and mission-ready technology environments capable of supporting today's evolving operational requirements.

Program Management & Acquisition Support

GDR provides experienced program managers and acquisition professionals who support the full lifecycle of complex government programs—from strategic planning and acquisition through execution, oversight, sustainment, and closeout. Our disciplined approach emphasizes governance, risk management, schedule and cost performance, stakeholder engagement, and regulatory compliance, ensuring programs remain aligned with mission objectives while delivering measurable results to our government partners.

Why GDR

GDR Solutions LLC

Our clients choose GDR because we combine operational experience with practical execution.

- Veteran-owned leadership with extensive military and federal experience.
 - Decades of expertise supporting national security missions.
 - Deep understanding of government acquisition and operational environments.
 - Integrated expertise across intelligence, cybersecurity, supply chain, and program management.
 - Responsive, agile support tailored to customer requirements.
 - Commitment to integrity, professionalism, and mission success.
-

Who We Serve

GDR supports organizations across the federal government and defense community, including:

- Department of War
 - Intelligence Community
 - Combatant Commands
 - Defense Agencies
 - Federal Civilian Agencies
 - Defense Industrial Base Partners
 - Prime Contractors
 - Critical Infrastructure Organizations
-

Our Approach

Every engagement begins with understanding the customer's mission, operational environment, and objectives. We integrate experienced personnel, disciplined processes, and collaborative partnerships to deliver measurable results while maintaining the highest standards of professionalism and security.

Rather than offering generic consulting services, GDR provides mission-ready professionals capable of integrating seamlessly into government organizations and supporting critical operations from day one.

GDR Solutions LLC

Leadership

GDR is led by military veterans and experienced government professionals whose careers have been dedicated to protecting national security, supporting operational readiness, and delivering successful outcomes across intelligence, defense, cybersecurity, logistics, and acquisition organizations.

Our leadership team brings decades of combined experience supporting complex government missions and understands the unique challenges faced by today's federal agencies.

Looking Ahead

As emerging technologies, geopolitical competition, and increasingly sophisticated adversaries reshape the threat landscape, GDR remains committed to helping government organizations anticipate risk, strengthen resilience, and maintain operational advantage.

Whether supporting a critical acquisition program, improving supply chain security, enhancing cybersecurity, or delivering specialized intelligence expertise, GDR stands ready to support the mission.

Mission Focused. Intelligence Driven.